COMMERCIAL CLUB MAKES ADVANCE STEP

Another practical step in the formation of the Commercial Club of Honolulu, an institution which will fill a long-felt want in the city, was taken last night at a meeting at which the following Board of Governors was elected: Fred Damon, W. H. Farrington, W. T. Lucas, F. W. Macfarlane, J. B. McInerney, J. F. Morgan, E. H. Paris, M. Phillips, R. R. Redford, A. G. M. Robertson, George W. Smith, R. H. Trent, James Wakefield, F. L. Waldron, H. P. Wood.

The meeting, held in the rooms of the Promotion Committee, was well attended and presided over by George W. Smith. The most important matter to come up, with the exception of the election of the Board of Governors, was in the form of a letter from A. G. M. Robertson, of the committee on organization. He stated that a charter had been granted the club on August 30 and that it had been thought best to divide the first Board of Governors into three sections, to serve one, two and three years respectively, five members to be elected each year.

In the submitting the list of nominations for the board he stated that the committee "has been considerably embarrassed by the fact that the list of subscribers contains so many good names that in limiting the board to fifteen, many representative business men have necessarily been left out. The committee also recommended by-laws for the organization, which were adopted without any radical change.

After the meeting was finished a short session of the new Board of Governors was held at which the arrangement of the club rooms, which will be located in the upper story of the Alcatraz building on the corner of King and Bethel streets, was discussed. Some one suggested the settlement of the question whether there should be a dining room for ladies. It was decided to await a larger attendance.

WOODS EATS CROW

have we to do with this matter?" he asked. "Can we discipline a National Committeeman? Can we discipline Senator Woods? What can all this investigation lead to? Would it not have been a great deal easier for Mr. McClanahan and Mr. Woods to get together and talk the matter over? But to rush into print with a letter charging the National Committeeman with treachery, for that is what it amounts to,—what have we to do with that? It is impossible in a public way like this to arrive at any amicable conclusion.

"Therefore I move in the interests of harmony that this committee decline to take any action in the matter, but requests that Senator Woods and Mr. McClanahan get together and see if they cannot arrive at some agreement.

Biplane said that he thought the matter had gone out in the newspapers, and therefore the question should be gone over in the committee.

Woods explained that the motion intended himself and McClanahan to get together and arrive at a conclusion, so that the result could be published in the papers.

McClanahan would confer
Mr. McClanahan stated that Mr. Rhodes' motion expressed his feelings, and he had been trying to reach Mr. Woods all day. It is a mistaken idea," he said. "But Mr. Woods and myself have not got together. We have had an hour's conference. But I think that the results of any conference between Mr. Woods and myself should be a part of the records of this meeting. I suggest that if Mr. Woods wants to see me as badly as I want to see him, we retire to another room or down stairs."

Woods said: "I acknowledge that Mr. McClanahan and I have had a conference. I left it to him to see how we could come together. When he asked me to call again at his office, he said he thought it was too great a matter to be settled by him, and he thought it ought to be left to the Central Committee."

At the insistence of Chairman Kinney, he stated his willingness to go out with McClanahan and try to come to an agreement.

Woods and McClanahan retire
The two then left the room amid the applause of the members.

It's the Type Bar That Does It.

How it hits, what it hits and where it hits it tells the whole story of typewriter worth.

THE MONARCH type bar hits in plain sight—that is visible writing.

THE MONARCH type bar hangs in plain sight, so as to be easily gotten at.

THE MONARCH type bar hits a rigid carriage and so gives a clear, clean impression of the type.

THE MONARCH type bar always hits where it ought, because of its firm bearings.

THE MONARCH type bar needs no guide because of its patented, broad, pivotal, frictionless bearings.

THE MONARCH type bar hits a sharp, snappy blow and gets out of the way "as quick as lightning."

THE MONARCH type bar hits a strong stroke with an easy touch of the type key. In fact,

THE MONARCH type bar hits the right thing in the right way in the right place and keeps on doing it and hence the Monarch Typewriter is the typewriter of the present and of the future.

While they were out the County Committee started in to transact its business, but before any progress had been made Woods and McClanahan returned and announced that they had quickly reached an agreement.

Takes It All Back
Woods submitted a typewritten statement in which he apologized for the statements he had made and said all he had said amounted to nothing, and had no truth in it. He pledged his loyalty to the party and its candidates, particularly Mr. McClanahan, whom he promised to support earnestly.

The chairman stated that in view of Mr. Woods' attitude he matter be considered settled. He thanked Woods on behalf of the committee. Three cheers were proposed for Woods, and given with enthusiasm. Woods proposed three cheers for McClanahan, and they were given as heartily as the ones for Woods. This matter being settled, the committee adjourned at 8:45.

In the Circuit Court this morning a document was filed from Mrs. Cordelia C. Allen, temporarily residing in Oakland, Cal., agreeing to accept the provisions in the will of her husband, William Frederick Allen, deceased, in place of her dower rights.
